Noon Lunch at Pak Huay Meechai.

Afternoon Visit Wat Visounnarath, is the oldest temple in Luang Prabang that is still in use. This monastery is regarded as the symbol of the kingdom's unity. is the oldest temple in Luang Prabang that is still in use. This monastery is regarded as the symbol of the kingdom's unity. The present sim of Wat Wisunalat dates from 1898 - the original sim was destroyed by fire in 1887, when it was attacked by Chinese marauders. The style of the present sim is similar to the original, with heavy use of massive wooden beams, but with more brickwork and plaster than the original.

Visit Wat Aham, located next door to Wat Visounnarath. It was a significant temple in much of the 19th century, for it hosted the residence of the Sangkhalat (also written Pra Sangkarat), the Supreme Patriarch of Laotian Buddhism, a monk who is a sort of Buddhist Cardinal for Laos.

Visit Wat Saen, it is sited right on the main road, with its many buildings set on a paved courtyard, although most of the buildings are angled relative to the street so that they face east. The sim is rather nicely proportioned, although when you get up close you will notice that the doors are actually very small, making the whole facade appear bigger than it really is. The sim and all the other buildings are painted an ochre color, with a large lotus blossom motif stenciled in gold.

Visit Wat Xieng Thong, it was built by King Setthathirat in 1559-1560. Its basement is short and the top has three roofs of old Lao style. On one side of the sim, there are several small halls and stupas that contain Buddha images of the period. There is a reclining Buddha sanctuary, which contains a especially rare reclining Buddha that dates from the construction of the temple. In 1931, the image was taken to Paris and displayed at the Paris Exhibition and was kept in Vientiane until 1964, where it returned to Luang Phrabang.

Visit Prathat Phousi, contains around 328 steps shaded under Champa Lao Trees (flower nation in Lao) leads to Prathat Chom Sion Phousi Peak to experience a scene of the palace near the Mekong River surrounded by lush green forests, and view sunset from Phousi. Then enjoy shopping at Night Market on Sisavangvong road.

Evening Dinner Indochaina Restaurant. Then transfer to hotel overnight at hotel.

Day 2 ★ Sticky rice alms giving ★ Morning Market ★ Ting Cave ★ Ban Xang Hai ★ Kwangsi Waterfall ★

05.30 A.M. Wake up in early morning because we have a program of putting food in the alms bowls of Buddhist priests. A monks and novices, more than 200 from all temples, begin to arrive like a golden stream to receive to receive the sticky rice from us. After alms, take you to Morning Market and transfer back to hotel.

Return back for Breakfast at hotel.

08.30 A.M. Visit some rural sightseeing by boat at Ting Cave on the Mekong riverside, Lots of wooden Buddha images inside.

Noon Lunch at Maneevanh Restaurant.

Afternoon Ban Xang Hai, a village noted for its earthenware, purple-red whisky, and an archaeological site. Be warned that the whisky has a bit of kick.

Then drive to Kwangsi Waterfall, eighty meters high and 560 meters above sea level, the gigantic mass of Limestone is for nature lovers and those in search of some peace of mind.

Evening Dinner at Restaurant. Then, transfer to hotel overnight at hotel.

Day 3 ★ Royal Palace Museum ★ Wat Mai Suwannapumaram ★ Silver Shop ★ Bangkok ★

Morning Breakfast at hotel

09.00 A.M. Visit Royal Palace Museum. The museum is housed in the former royal palace, which was built between 1904 and 1909. It originally was a mixture of French and Lao architecture but extensive changes were made to adapt it to Lao culture.

Visit Wat Mai Suwannapumaram, the sim of this old temple escaped destruction by the Chinese Haw, who according to some sources found the sim too beautiful to destroy. The most striking feature of the temple is the gilded relief panels covering the front facade. The panels tell the story of the highest incarnation of the Buddha -- Vessantara. The gilded door frames merge into the relief panel, forming what looks like a monolithic wall of gold. Then visit Silver Shop to shop hand-made silver product in Luang Prabang.

Noon Lunch at Tammak Lao Restaurant.

Afternoon

Visit Ban Phanom, an interesting Tai Lue village. The villages' ancestors came from Southern China in 1374 and became the King's servants. Their most outstanding skill, and one that has been passed on to succeeding generations, is weaving.

After that transfer to Luang Prabang airport.

14.10 pm.

16.10 pm Departure to Bangkok by Bangkok Airways.

18.10 pm. Arrive at Suvarnabhumi airport.
